Generally speaking, I'd like to send a survey to taxpayers finding out their opinions/priorities concerning how the tax money is spent.

First off, I'd like to see if they feel that their tax money is being spent in the right direction as to necessities vs. options.

Then, move on to more specific issues like public safety, public works, and special projects. We would include raising taxes for extra police, fire protection or street care; if it comes down to choices for these services.

Finally, ask them about spending city money for KRM, so we know what people want done with their money.

I'm not sure about which committee would be better, but City Plan Commission or Community Development should cover this area easily. I'd be happy to provide more options if the committee didn't know where to go.
